HOW TO LISTEN

Radio Australia is a shortwave station. You can hear our programs on radios with tuning scales showing frequencies above 5000 kilohertz (kHz) and wavelengths in metre bands (mb).

The quality and strength of reception can be affected by seasonal conditions and whether it is day or night. Try an alternate frequency if your first choice is not satisfactory.

An outside aerial improves reception. Write for our detailed, illustrated leaflet about aerials suited to receiving Radio Australia.

TRANSMITTERS

Radio Australia broadcasts through transmitting stations at Carnarvon, Western Australia (113°43'E 24°54'S); Darwin, Northern Territory (130°38'E 12°25'S); Shepparton, Victoria (145°25'E 36°20'S); and Lyndhurst, Victoria (145°14'E 38°03'S).
